Andrew Lessman's BREAST HEALTH is designed to support the health of the delicate tissues of a woman's breast at all stages of life. This formula incorporates natural components that target breast tissue, along with powerful anti-oxidants that help to support these delicate cells. Indole-3-Carbinol is a major constituent of cruciferous vegetables that has been shown to support and maintain the health of the breast, and may also help to maintain normal estrogen activity. Sulforaphane, another constituent of cruciferous vegetables, works by supporting and stimulating the body's production of its own powerful anti-oxidants, such as Glutathione. No breast health formula would be complete without the beneficial properties of a concentrated, standardized extract of Green Tea, with powerful anti-oxidants called polyphenols to support the health of a woman's breast, or Lutein and Lycopene, two powerful antioxidant carotenoids of particular importance to women since they are concentrated in specific tissues in the body. Additional free radical scavenging benefits are delivered by high levels of Grape Seed extract and Turmeric, powerful anti-oxidants that support the health of the breast. This unique combination of standardized ingredients delivers an unprecedented formula that supports the health of the delicate and fragile tissues of a woman's breast.
