Andrew Lessman's CIRCA is an all-natural botanical blend of potent bioflavonoids designed to support the health of the circulatory system, particularly the veins and capillaries of the peripheral circulation in the legs. Because of their location in your lower extremities, the circulatory tissues in the legs are comprised of perhaps the hardest working blood vessels in your entire body. Not only must they deliver nutrient-rich oxygenated blood to your legs, but they must then battle against gravity to transport deoxygenated blood and waste products back to your heart and internal organs for cleansing. It is this difficult journey back to the heart and internal organs that stresses the tissues of the legs. As we age, we become more aware of the uncomfortable burden that gravity can place on circulation in our lower extremities. Factors, such as stress, prolonged standing or high temperatures can cause our legs to feel heavy. This unique natural formula is specifically designed to combat the natural enlargement of the veins in the legs by helping to support and maintain the health and tone of the veins and capillaries in your legs, and to help reduce the sensations of heaviness that result from common, everyday conditions.

This formula contains a high potency blend of special bioflavonoids, with particularly high levels of Diosmin and Hesperidin, to target circulatory tissues. Bioflavonoids have a long history of providing support for delicate capillaries, and Diosmin has been used in Europe for over 30 years where numerous clinical studies have demonstrated its benefits for the maintenance of blood vessel tone and the support of healthy circulation in the legs. In addition to supporting overall capillary health, Diosmin also possesses strong anti-oxidant properties. To this uniquely balanced bioflavonoid blend, we also add Grape Seed extract because of its powerful anti-oxidant benefits that support healthy circulation. Just as its name describes, Circa is specifically designed to provide much-needed natural support for maintaining healthy circulation in the veins and capillaries of the legs.
